

Welcome

I'd like to know which class you come from

Well, we are from the H2 course as electricians

Yes,

The second main course

And, Rene..

It's the second line in our education where we have Danish on the time table

Why was it that you had to work with films?

Again it was part of the Danish subject, it says we have to work with media studies.

And there we decided to make a film

How did you start planning the film?

We found some ideas regarding where to shoot the different pictures

Where they would be filmed

I can see you have some pictures there, could you please tell what it is?

Well, it is our..

We should compile a way we could record the film and draw the sequences and scenes

And I thought this is smart, so we'll do it

And it's a little easier to keep track on what to include in scene one

And in scene two and so forth

From where did you get the actual story?

It was jokes targeted at apprentices, electricians' apprentices during time

Is it something you yourselves have been target of?

Not me!

Yep, I have been exposed to a few.

You have been the target of a couple of them, so it's something which actually happens!

Did you write down the dialogue? Or did you just have some key words?

We had some key words.

Key words, we had not written anything about what we would say

It was something we'd find out about bit by bit

We so to speak took each scene and then..

You had the content and you had some pictures to work from

And half a story, which we had just talked through, what would happen

And the jokes that we wanted

Like how we'd start, on the way to the job

At the lunch room, at a work task, and..

Was it a fun task? Was it a difficult task?

How did you experience it?

Both fun and difficult

It was extremely fun, anyway

Really fun to record

It was also quite obvious that you found it fun

Where did you actually record the film?

We recorded it here at the college

Outside, where we could record his walking

At some basic course students, they have a stand

We could use that one like being on a work task

And then we had a teacher's desk as a lunch table

Some of your pictures were quite fun to look at

Where we see the feet, what was the idea behind that?

It was to see what the person is seeing

So that we perhaps could think of what the person is thinking while on the way to the job

Would you call this a dogme film?

Yes, and then no

What makes it different from a real dogme film?

We missed someone to film so we had to put the camera on a tripod

Ok, and you are not allowed to do so in a dogme film?

No,

You at some point talked about background music, is that allowed in a dogme film?

No, not at all

Well, thanks for your efforts

I'd like to use his film in the project if that's ok with you?

We have to don't we!

Top!

Fine!

And now for the students' video

I've heard there'll be a new apprentice today

Well, is that so?

It could be fun to crack some jokes on him

Now that's it's his first day

Yes, but what should we do then?

Well, I know that there are several things we could use against him

What?

We could use the one with the screwdriver, the left-handed one

Yes, that's just so fun

The cable layer, or the elbow grease for the chemist

The best one is the one with the sliding gauge and the spirit level

Well, then we take those, then we just need to see whom of us he'll go with

Yes! The one with the bubble! (the spirit level)

Ha! There's the boss

Morning, morning

Who is that?

He's our new apprentice

Is there anyone who can use him today?

Well, then you can go with the one in the blue sweater

Ah, do I have to drag around with that worm!

That's just fine!

Hi,

Hello,

It's important that when you do something like this then it has to look right!

Otherwise Mrs. Jones might as well do it herself

Yes,

That's why we need some straps, but we also need the bubbles for the spirit level

Could you go and get them in the car?

Right!

I cannot find them!

The devil, you stupid apprentice, they are just next to the cartridges for the sliding gauge

Have you searched there?

No!

Well, but the time is almost a quarter to four, so we've better start getting home
