W1.- Good afternoon, sir.

C1.- Good afternoon! We wanted to make a reservation.

W1.- No problem, sir. When for?

C1.- Today, for lunch.

W1.- For how many?

C1.- Two.

W1.- Fine. Could I have a name, please?

C1.- Kent Andersen.

W1.- What time would you like to come in?

C1.-About one o'clock.

W1.-I'm afraid the restaurant doesn't open until two.
C1.-Well, make it two then.
W1.- Will you be wanting the set menu?
C1.-Sounds good. How much is it?
W1.- Ten euro.
C1.-Okay, that'll be fine.
W1.- Okay, see you at two o'clock, sir.
C1.- That's right – see you at two.
W1.-Thank you, sir.
C1.- Bye now.

(At The restaurant at two o'clock)

W2.- Good afternoon, sir.
C2.- Good afternoon.
C1.- Good afternoon. We've got a reservation; Kent Andersen's the name.
W2.-That's right, sir. Let me show you to your table. Will you be having the set menu?
C1.- Yes, please. What is there?
W2.- Entrées: paella, salad or soup.
Main course: chicken, fried hake or a meat stew.
And dessert: junket, yogurt or rice pudding.
To drink: wine, cider or water.
C1.- I'll have the paella, the chicken and the junket.
C2.- And I'll have the salad, the fried hake and the yoghurt.
W2.- Certainly, gentlemen.. And to drink?
C1.- I'll have wine, please.
C2.- And I'll have water.
W2.- Thank you very much. The food will be right with you.
C1.- Thank you very much.
C2.- Thank you very much.
