Text and video

Hello, today I'm going to talk to you about computers. These days computers are part and parcel of our daily lives. We use them in offices, we use them for writing and editing texts, we use them for performing complicated mathematical and technical operations, we use them for graphical design and video. Cars are designed by computer, aeroplanes fly using computers. Even our small digital watches are a simple sort of computer.

Twenty years ago, computers were enormous, one computer would fill a whole room and be a series of great grey metal boxes, with large reels of tapes that went round and round and round. These days, this is a computer. If you compare the development of the computer with the Wrong!

You should have used:
enormous
 which means:

Very great in size, extent, number, or degree
