

The Hair Dressing Salon

The action takes place in a hair dressing salon; we see two women customers (Bakartxo and Maialen) and the hairdresser (H), also a woman. The two women customers are sitting next to the hair dryers reading magazines. Another customer, Cipri, comes in and B and M. start making comments about him.

B: Check that guy out; what a weirdo!

M: You can say that again! Maybe he thinks it's Carnival time...

They start laughing and H says...

H: Good morning, sir. How can I help you?

C: I need a hair cut; it looks like I've got tree roots coming out of my head.

H: Okay, but...did you make a time?

C: A time? No, I haven't got any time! I'm in a hurry.

H: Okay, don't worry, sir; we'll look after you! Go through, please, and we'll wash your hair.

C: Wash my hair? With water? No way! That's for the fish!

H: I'm sorry, sir, but if you want us to cut your hair properly we'll have to wash it first.

C: Okay, if there's no way round it...

H: Okay, sir, through here, please.

The hair dresser washes his hair

H: Did you have anything particular in mind, sir?

C: No, can you suggest something?

H: Why don't you have a look at this fashion magazine and choose something.

C: Look, I'm not really fussy; I'll leave it up to you.

H: Okay...I've got it. I'm going to give you the latest thing; leave it up to me.

The hair dresser finishes washing his hair and seats him in another chair to cut his hair. The other two customers who are in the salon start saying things to the hair dresser.

M: Dye his hair red!

B: What are talking about! Shave his head bald!. (They laugh)

C: You two just mind your own business; and get a look at yourselves in the mirror!

The hairdresser starts cutting, applies the dye, puts in some rollers and then, when she's covered his hair with aluminium foil, leaves him under the dryer next to the two other customers.

H: Go over to the dryer, please, sir. Here's a magazine to fill in the time.

C. Thanks a lot

Three hours go by and they're all still there.

H: Take a seat here, please, sir and I'll comb you out! Ugh, what a disgusting smell!!

At this point the two women customers start laughing. C looks at them in amazement.

M: Look what she's done to him!

B: Yeah, get a load of that.

They both start laughing again. The hair dresser looks worried and starts taking off the aluminium foil. When she's taken it all off she lets out a scream when she sees that the customer hasn't got any hair.

C: Look what you've done to me, woman!

H: I'm really sorry, sir. I don't know what happened. This is my first day on the job and you're only my third customer.

M and B: (Together at the top of their voice) What ...! Oh, nooooo...!

In the next image we see all three of them without any hair.

THE END.

Trabajo del proyecto europeo

Profesora: Mari Jose

Alumnos participantes:

Maialen

Bacartxo

Patricia

Cipri